Artist Bio

Sarah Lasley is a video artist from Louisville, Kentucky and an Assistant Professor of Film at Cal Poly Humboldt. Her films expose complicity in spectatorship by complicating the linear subject/object relationship between the viewer and the viewed. She has screened internationally at film festivals and universities, notably the Cairo Video Festival in Egypt and National Chiao Tung University in Taiwan. Her museum and gallery exhibitions include the Katonah Museum of Art in upstate New York, Leslie Hellar Workspace in New York City, and LAXART in Los Angeles. Lasley worked as an animator for Martha Stewart Omnimedia and title animator on Todd Haynes's Academy Award Nominated film Carol, Panda Bear, and MGMT music videos. Her theatre credits as projection designer include the Baryshnikov Arts Center, Harlem Stage, and Ars Nova in New York City. She was recipient of the Toby Devan Lewis Grant from Yale School of Art, where she taught as a Lecturer for over a decade. Recently she was awarded the grand prize for Blue Star Contemporary's Projection/Projektion video program in collaboration with Darmstädter Sezession in Germany, where she was invited to be an artist in residence in summer 2023. She holds an MFA from Yale School of Art and a BFA from University of Louisville and was a resident at the Skowhegan School of Painting and Sculpture in 2004.
